

Beyond These Fields

Beyond These Fields is a musical collaboration between Melbourne based instrumentalist, music producer and sound designer Dan West and drummer Rory McDougall that dynamically morphs between esoteric analogue ambience and instrumental synth rock party jams for the apocalypse.

Dan is renowned for his sonic work with artists Yumi Umiumare and Eugenia Lim and both he and Rory have gained global recognition as core members of hard hitting instrumental groups The Putbacks and Cookin' On 3 Burners.

Beyond These Fields brings these two artists together to create dark and beat driven synthscapes that draw on their love of live interplay between people and the subtle parameter morphing of old analogue machines.

Co-creator Dan West says of the project, “Beyond These Fields create sensory environments that are nostalgically futuristic. We seek to draw the audience into an ever evolving world of crusty synthesizers, electric guitar and acoustic drums - tweaking and building from here to oblivion”.

Following their live show debut as an immersive live audio visual performance for Melbourne Fringe Festival and an intensive writing period, Beyond These Fields are now seeking opportunities to bring this project to the people, both in traditional performance environments and spaces which have less delineation between audience and performer.
